BUILDERS SHOW ABOUT REDCLIFF

Were Agreeably Surprised with the Size of Our Industries.

ENTERTAINED AT CLUB

Went Away Singing Praises of Our Town and Its Possibilities.

Wednesday morning about twenty members of the Alberta Builders Exchange, who had been holding their annual meeting in Medicine Hat, were brought out to Redcliff and shown about the town by Mayor Bott and several members of the Board of Trade. They were taken to one of the brick-plants, the Ornamental Iron Works, the Glass plant, Rolling mills and the shoe factory, and after looking at the Redcliff club for a short time. Shortly after their arrival at the Club Mayor Bott was called upon and in a neat little speech told the builders what had been accomplished in the past three years and what our hopes were for the future, and predicted that in a very short space of time Redcliff would be the greatest manufacturing point between Winnipeg and Vancouver, and would even rival Winnipeg in that respect. He welcomed the members of the Builders Exchange to Redcliff and hoped that when they thought of coming to Southern Alberta again to hold a convention that they would find the city a most interesting place. Two of the visitors replied to Mayor Bott and they said that they were very much surprised with the extent of our manufacturing plants, and very well pleased with their visit here. Being builders they were very much interested in the brick plant, the Ornamental Iron Works and the Rolling Mills, and a great deal of interest was taken in the Glass plant.

They also praised the business men here for their elaborately furnished club, which always gave a stranger a good impression of the business interests of the town. Those including the party were: C. D. Gale, C. R. Post, J. D. Nelson, C. C. Watson, C. H. Johnson, all of Edmonton; H. Grant, J. Gladwin, J. B. Garney, H. G. Goss, of Lethbridge; H. M. Sely, of Calgary; G. H. Hooten, H. D. Brooks, J. W. Stapleford, of Medicine Hat.

Messrs. Hooten and Leader, of the firm of Hooten, Leader & Goss, of Medicine Hat, advised the local committee very materially in guiding the builders to Redcliff.

ALBERTA'S LIVESTOCK EXPORTS LAST YEAR

The total number of livestock handled by the railways last year in Alberta was 684,400 head, in 1912 it was 691,600 and in 1909 it was only 164,000. Only once has the number of cattle shipped in Alberta last year been eclipsed, estimated at 740,000 head—namely, in 1910, when 158,000 was the total as against the 151,000 of 1912. The following is a summary of Alberta livestock exports for the year 1913:—Exports to Europe, all shipped to Winnipeg and the coast, 45,500; to British Columbia, 51,150; shipped to United States, 5,200; a total of 61,850. Local consumption, 65,000. Moved from summer to winter feeding grounds, 27,200; total shipped by railway commissions, 151,050. Value of shipments: British Columbia, $1,150 head at $51, $41,150; Winnipeg and coast, 2,200 head at $41, $90,200; United States, 5,200 head at $91, $473,400; total shipped out of the province, $4,954,900. Local consumption, 65,000 head at $28, $1,820,000; total value to the farmers and ranchers, $6,774,900. Value of hogs and swine, 27,000 hogs at $15, per head, $405,000; 17,000 sheep at $5, per head, $85,000; total, $500,000. Grand total, $11,450,000.

PURCHASES THE MURPHY HOME

Mr. J. H. Farrow and Wm. R. Agar of Vancouver, B.C., were in town several days this last week, with a view of locating. Mr. Farrow became very much impressed with the possibilities here and last Tuesday purchased the residence and lot now occupied and owned by J. M. Murphy on Fifth street. Mr. Farrow left for Vancouver last Tuesday night but will return about April 1st with his family and make his future home here. Mr. Agar will also become a resident of Redcliff.

The property purchased by Mr. Farrow is in the choice residential section and although the purchase price is not given it is understood that Mr. Murphy received a very fair price for his home.

Mr. Farrow will enter the contracting business, a line he has followed for some time.

CONTRACT LET FOR CONCRETE WORK

Mr. Maclellan has let the contract for the concrete work for the greenhouse to Mr. Paul Voe, and the contractor expects to begin operations in a few days if the weather continues so fine as it has the past week. The balance of the material for this plant has been shipped or is about to be shipped and it is expected to be completed as fast as possible.

NEWLY MARRIED Couple Visiting Here

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. James, formerly of Good Hope, 1st, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sharp, formerly of Burrows, are, at present, at the home of the latter's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Justice. These young people have just arrived from the States and will be here for some time. Mr. and Mrs. James are from Medicine Hat, and Mr. and Mrs. Sharp are from Calgary, Alberta, where the gentlemen have resided for the past two years.

HOW ABOUT HOSPITAL?

Now that spring is about here and weather conditions will soon permit of building operations, something should be done toward providing Redcliff with hospital accommodations. Every one who is taken down with a serious sickness or meets with a bad accident has to be carried off to Medicine Hat at the present time, and even then it is a question whether he or she can get proper accommodations, as the hospital there is most always full.

Redcliff should have a hospital of its own and if it cannot be built by private subscriptions it should be built by the municipality. Nearly all towns and cities in the East have their municipal hospital and there is no reason why Redcliff should not have one.

Dr. R. R. Stoner and a few others have offered to subscribe to a hospital fund, but it does not look as if a sufficient amount can be raised through private subscriptions and the only other way is for the town to issue hospital debentures.

We believe a suitable site can be procured free if the town would build a suitable building. This is a matter that demands the serious consideration of the people of this town and the sooner something is done the better, for if we should ever have an epidemic of any kind here the physicians would be seriously handicapped in coping with it.

LORD MINTO

The death of Lord Minto, yesterday morning last did not bring to memory and great achievement he had accomplished in public life, although as Governor-General of Canada he was popular in the country, and the news of his death was received with regret throughout the Dominion. Lord Minto took part in several military operations and while in Canada served as chief of staff to Gen. Middleton during the second Boer rebellion.

WESTERN REDISTRIBUTION

The new Dominion constituencies in the Western provinces as now outlined by the redistribution committee at Ottawa, does not appear to be open to much criticism. The constituencies have a symmetrical appearance and if they are not changed after being reported to parliament, the work of the committee will reflect credit upon the government. Let us hope that the early in period will not hinder the work of the committee, but give the people of the provinces a fair representation in parliament regardless of party.

We must have two parties, and the stronger the opposition is the better for the country. A government with an overwhelming majority is a menace to the country.

INVESTIGATING CANADIAN WEALTH

For the past year or so a modest-looking man with the ferreting powers of a detective and describing himself as a "working journalist," has been delving into Canadian records, says the Monetary Times. He has flicked the dust from the pages of numerous volumes in libraries, in newspaper offices and elsewhere, seeking knowledge of Canada's economic and financial history in days past. His name is Gustavus Myers. Part of the result of his inquiries in the Dominion comes to hand in his first volume. He takes his reader from the time of the Spanish explorers up to September, 1892. Story based solely on facts and figures available to everybody, but a story of which we believe few Canadians ever are familiar.

Mr. Myers states in his preface that the rapid concentration of wealth in Canada is no mere fancy and quotes an estimate that less than fifty men in this country to-day control $4,000,000,000. "To say that this small group of individuals controls so vast a wealth and the agencies of its production do not imply that they own it all and control there is a difference, yet the reverse of that commonly supposed. By means of their control of financial markets and distributive systems, a small number of men may effectively control sources of wealth which still may remain under individual ownership, as witness the case of farms, of which control largely throughout Canada are bitterly complaining. Also it is not necessary for magnates to own all the stock of railroads, banks, factories and mines; much of that ownership may be distributed among small shareholders, yet by their predominantly large holdings, stock, and through their power of directorship, those magnates can and do control those diversified, and often financially interconnected, sources of wealth."

Mr. Myers' book is accordingly interesting and whets the appetite for the second volume, which will probably deal with events happening from 1892 to the present time, and which will probably provoke considerable discussion.

A Sure-Going Phenomenon.

The traveling salesman for a handbag house, whose route carries him through the South, brings back an iron-riveted description of a phenomenon collected from a negro preacher. The divine in question enjoys a considerable reputation in the small town in which the salesman was compelled to pass a Sabbath, so the latter turned aside from his habits to hear him. In the course of his eloquent sermon, the preacher employed the word phenomenon. The preacher said:

"Praps some of my hearers don't know what this yere word 'phenomenon' means," said he. "Well ah'll explain. Suppose you was to walk along the road this afternoon and you saw a cow getting crazy. That ain't no phenomenon, brethren and sisters. Not at all. And a little further on you come to a big thistle plant growing. That ain't no phenomenon, neither. And then bimeby you see a little bird a-singing up in the tree. Well, I want to tell you that ain't no phenomenon."

"But, suppose, brethren and sisters, you was to see a cow sitting on a thistle plant beside the road singing like a little bird—that's what we call a phenomenon."—New York Times.

There are times when we must all bow to the inevitable, but we never let a horse friend of him.

America Indignant Over Killing of Benton

Pascual Villa, the commander of the North Mexican rebels, has just written over grossing he ever had of the people of the United States by his summary execution of W. S. Benton, a Scotchman and large Mexican ranchman.

Benton was well-known and respected by Americans and his death at the hands of Villa or Villa's officers has caused the greatest indignation, name-calling was held at in Paso, recently at which an ex-Governor of Mexico presided. Resolutions were adopted, denouncing the "American government's policy and denouncing Villa as an outlaw and a murderer."

According to the evidence, Mr. Benton went to Villa's office in Juarez, Mexico (opposite El Paso), to protest against the looting of his ranch by some of Villa's soldiers. He had known Villa for years and had a poor opinion of him. Angry words were exchanged, and it is reported that Villa struck Benton with the butt end of his revolver. Benton fell dead or senseless. A few hours later Villa admitted to the American Consul that Benton was dead. He claimed that court-martial had found the Scotchman guilty of attempting to assassinate him, and had condemned him to be shot immediately, which was done. This story is not believed by many; it is regarded as an invention to excuse Villa. The Mexican official report is that Benton tried to shoot Villa. The former's friends say that he was unarmed. In the absence of any proof, the Mexicans may have to accept the Villa version. In any case, Villa disregarded the warnings of the United States against "summary executions" of foreigners.

U. S. MAY AUTHORIZE BANKS FOR FARMERS

Two bills to establish farm banks were introduced in the United States Congress recently. These bills have the approval of the Wilson administration.

It is proposed to have in the Treasury Department a "Bureau of Farm Land Banks" which is to have special control of such banks. Any group of farmers within a state may organize a cooperative farm land bank with power to issue bonds which may be sold to raise funds to disburse money farmers. Out of the bank's capital, subscribed by its stockholders, out of money arising from the sale of bonds, loans may be made to farmers.

These loans are not to exceed half the value of the land which is mortgaged as security. These loans are not to exceed half the value of the land which is mortgaged as security. The loans may run as long as thirty-five years. The bank's stockholders are responsible for the debts of the bank, up to twice the value of the stock they hold. Postal savings funds may be deposited in these cooperative banks.

Farmers in the United States have always worked under great disadvantages, because they could not easily borrow money when they needed it to make their crops, although they may have had good security. In a small place where the value of the security offered by the farmer is small, local banks, lending, so long as the value of the security offered, it is expected that money will flow from the investors who have been trying to get the farmers who can put it to profitable use. President Wilson, Secretary Bryan, Secretary McKim and the authors of these bills are very enthusiastic about them. They believe that such banks will be a great boon to agriculture a greater prosperity than it has ever known.

The Men's Christian League.

Last Sunday afternoon about sixty men listened to a "straight from the shoulder" Christian message. Mr. Underwood's speech was plain and free from any attempt to be oratorical, but in it there was a majesty that was truly eloquent. For a half hour he turned the attention of the men from the things of this life to a consideration of the great eternal realities that alone are worth while. He gripped those present and sent them away with a new inspiration for their life. Mr. Underwood is a business man who has won success and in it has shown that the Christian life is worth while, not only in usual ordinary relationships but that it is the only life to live out in the thronging world of business where men meet men and struggle for supremacy.

Next Sunday, Mr. Harvey Fisher of Medicine Hat will speak on the subject: "The Power of Imagination." Those who heard Mr. Fisher last fall will be glad to hear him again. Remember the time and place: Sunday 3 p. m. at the M. C. L. club rooms. You are always welcome.

The Presbyterian Church.

Next Sabbath, after a short discourse on "Spiritual Communion" at 11 o'clock, the communion of the Lord's supper will be dispensed in the church. Members of all Christian denominations are invited to the table of their Lord. In an early part of the service catchwords will be recited into full communion. At 7:30 in the evening in the Empress Theatre the preacher will speak on "Difficulties of Montessori," a subject specially interesting to parents and teachers and all who would understand the child mind.

Brick Go Through Fire Before they Go to You.

They are made from clay and the clay is burned in a hot kiln, averaging 2300 degrees Fahrenheit, heat far greater than any fire they will ever be called upon to pass through in the walls of your house.

This is what makes Brick Fire-proof. That is what makes Brick Frost-proof. That is what makes Brick Impishable.

Build Your Home of BRICK-IT'S ECONOMY

True economy not only takes in the first cost but the cost that is to come. Brick houses of average construction cost but a few dollars more than lumber or stucco—say $150 on a $3500 house. But when they are erected cost stops. There are no repairs to be figured on. There is no painting to be continued in every 3 or 4 years. There is no depreciation in price—consequently your house will sell for what it cost you, plus the increase of the value of your lot in the meanwhile. There is a reduction in the insurance rate of 35 per cent over concrete or stucco and more than 50 per cent over lumber. There is a reduction in fuel bills because brick keeps out the frost in winter. There is comfort in summer because brick keeps out the heat. And above all you can borrow more money from your bank on a brick house than you could on a lumber or stucco house in the same period of time. When you build, build for true economy.

FURIANA DANCE INSTEAD OF TANGO

Said to Have Approval of the Pope—Is Essentially a Folk Dance.

At last, the approved substitute for the insidious tango! It is called the furiana. It is said to have been invented by the Pope, and according to one of the Paris newspapers, it has the sanction of the Pope.

First who have been given the honor, perhaps, of making the furiana the Argentine importation, sacrificing and dignified, even, a 20 or 30 on the side of the furiana, will observe with dismay this flank attack from Venice, a most unexpected quarter. And the furiana is by no means simple, nor is it slow.

According to the article published in Le Temps, which has been the dancing masters of Europe renouncing old books for furiana music and furiana steps, the Pope has described it as "elegant, merry and graceful," and on the whole a much better dance than the tango, which has been the favorite of a private audience where a couple, at the Pope's request, were demonstrating the much-discussed dance which has set two continents dancing and dipping to tango tunes. The Pope didn't care much for the tango, and asked why no one danced the furiana.

The rumor has spread over Europe. For one brief, hopeful moment, the Father had said "tango," and the furiana was an encouragingly hilarious sound. At any rate, furiana was a cry.

Dancing masters in New York City admit it is a new one to them. "I have heard of it," declared A. Hayslip Wilson, who teaches many South American varieties imported directly from Paris. "It's one of those old-fashioned affairs, it won't go, no matter how much truth there may be in this story about the Pope's recommendation of it."

Mrs. Elizabeth Borchardt, who is largely responsible for the folk-dance movement instituted in this country, also professed her ignorance of the furiana. But those who have traveled in Northern Italy, and who have spent some time in Venice, have encountered this "pretty, rustic" dance, and every good history of dance records it.

The furiana, or furiana, as it is more often called, is essentially a folk dance which at one time was taken up by the fashionable folk of Florence and Venice. It is supposed to have been introduced into Northern Italy as the aristocratic dance of Southern Italy, and in the present movements is practically the same as favorite dance with the Venetian gondoliers, and is popular even in the extreme Southern Germany and Switzerland.

It is a dance which dates from the seventeenth century. It stands half way between the old contra-dance of the old-fashioned quadrille, for instance, and the more modern dance of the group, like all folk dances, the dancers sometimes forming two long lines, vigorously clapping and stamping, many of the steps are executed by single couples. The furiana steps which will be taken over by the dancing world of Paris, London and Berlin if the furiana becomes popular.

Many variations are introduced in the dance in different localities. The characteristic movements, according to the dance historians, follow those of the truly Bachmanian dance, the tango. The dance is essentially for the most part with the dancers facing each other. The dance is always done close together, shoulder and knee often touching, but not clasped as in the modern dance.

The hands are held high above the head and clasped or the fingers snapped. The characteristic movement is a vibrant sort of side in a circle. Facing each other, the dancers glide forward with the outside foot, drawing the inside foot up sharply on the second beat of the rapid music. This slide is repeated with distinct effect, and the dancers drawing gradually on a small circle. The complete circle of the circle the dancers reverse and circle with the same gliding step in the opposite direction, executing a figure eight.

"Another step includes a high spring forward, which is surely going to prove a Waterloo for the stiff of knee for it is followed by an unmistakable 'kick' through the side of the knee, half from the seventeenth century. Each dance springs forward vigorously, turning slightly to the right, so that the couple are nearly back to back. On the second count the left toe touches far forward; on three the dancers rise on both toes without changing the position, and on four sink into a rapid and exceedingly modern dip. The furiana is a single beat of the swift music each while face about. Sometimes in this figure the arms are interlocked when the dancers take the side spring and released for the whirl.

The music for the dance is very rapid, and engaging, 6-8 or 6-16 time, as in the tango, and the movements are built up in variation of the described steps—the side spring, the side spring, and the dip, to use the modern lingo of Terpsichorean. Like all folk dances, the couple are combined in groups of four or in long lines and skipping and marching is interspersed.

It may be that the furiana will make as much of a sensation to-day as it did at its introduction in Venice and Florence in the seventeenth century. At that time it came into favor to replace the stately minuet which had been imported from the French. These days, according to the dancers, might well be compared to the present mania. By the middle of the seventeenth century the gay, light, of Florence and Venice wearied of the slow pas a deux, and some one brought in the steps of the present dance, which was then popular in Northern Italy.

It spread to Paris, and was even danced in Paris. It was vigorous and rapid and it practically killed the slow-footed minuet. "Histories of Venice tell of dances which were held not only in palaces but upon the broad entrance steps under the light of lanterns wreathed with flowers.

The minuet was no rival for the furiana, but the tango will probably not die so easily. If the Venetian gondoliers' dance does become popular with modern dancers, it will be largely because it allows for a freedom of movement that makes for a most exhilarating speed, and yet does not wholly eliminate the rhythm which comes from dancing in couples. The experiments over forty with fluttering hearts and weak lungs would do well to beware the gay furiana. It was built for sturdy peasants who never knew the word cardiac.
